PREFACE.

We take great pleasure in presenting to our patrons our first biennial Directory of the City of Akron, hoping it will meet with their approbation. We do not claim it to be perfect, but no trouble has been spared to make it as nearly so as possible. No person unacquainted with the business, can conceive the trials the canvasser has to undergo, but all are very willing to excuse him for not spelling their names right, when they are not willing to condescend to inform him how it should be. A great many board and no one knows, either at their boarding place or place of occupation, what their names are, or how they spell them, enough for them if they do their work properly and pay for what they eat. A great many are absent from home, and as no person knows anything about anyone's business but his own the canvasser cannot find out their names. These are but a few of the difficulties to be overcome and not by any means the least, though we will not enumerate farther. Hoping that those who have seen fit to refuse their patronage will be satisfied with the work, and that our patrons will not be disappointed, we place this work "where it will do the most good." Thanking our patrons for their liberal support, and wishing them success in their various callings, we remain the public's obedient servants,

A. R. TALCOTT & Co.,
