P R E F A C E .

In presenting to the public our first Directory of Akron, we do so believing that it will be found more complete and reliable than any previous Directory. Notwithstanding the fact that omissions and errors may be discovered, we claim for the work an accuracy and neatness seldom exhibited in a book of its kind.

We have aimed to make our work a fit representative of the public spirit and importance of the City of Akron, and an accurate and complete guide to all public places, business locations, and private residences of the inhabitants of the city. The Business Directory contains a classified list of all trades, professions and pursuits in the city, alphabetically arranged, thus exhibiting at a glance the special business of each citizen.

The miscellaneous department contains much information useful to both citizens and strangers.

While thanking the business community for the generous patronage given us and the "Press" for their favorable notices, also General L. B. Bierce for furnishing us Historical Sketch, we desire to express our intention of issuing the Akron City Directory biennially, with the promise that it shall be as complete as it is possible to make it.

AKRON.

Akron, a thriving, enterprising city of seventeen thousand inhabitants, is capital of Summit County. It is built on the highest ground in Northern Ohio, being 495 feet above Lake Erie, and 1,065 feet above the Atlantic Ocean.

When the city was laid out, in 1825, and awaiting a christening Charles Olcott, who was a graduate of Yale College, and a Greek scholar, suggested the name Akron, which is a Greek word, signifying a peak, or summit, which was at once adopted.

The ground on which it stands was purchased from the Indians at a treaty held at Fort McIntosh, where Beaver, in Pennsylvania, now stands, in 1785, by which the Cuyahoga River, the Portage Path, and Tuscarawas River were fixed upon as the western boundary of the United States. This boundary was confirmed by the treaty of Fort Greenville in 1795.

The Portage Path, which is the western boundary of Akron, was thus fixed by treaty with the Indians, as the western boundary of the United States, and so remained until the treaty of Fort Industry, where Sandusky City now is, in 1805, when the Indians decided their lands west of the Cuyahoga and Portage Path, to the United States. Thus, for twenty years, the ground on which Akron stands, was the extreme limit of the United States, separated from hostile tribes of Indians of unknown numbers, with a territory extending to the Pacific Ocean, by an Indian trail only.

That Path is of historic interest, as it was the great highway of nations for unknown centuries before America was known to the civilized world. This Path commenced at the head of canoe navigation on the Cuyahoga, at what is called Old Portage, and then followed the high lands, or ridges, to the head waters of canoe navigation on the Tuscarawas, a distance of about nine miles.

Akron was situated in Portage township, originally, though it now embraces parts of Tallmadge and Springfield Townships.

The first settlers in Portage Township, within what is now Akron, were Major Miner Spicer, Amos Spicer, Paul and Barnabas Williams. Major Spicer came from Groton, New London County, Conn., in 1810, and located his land about half way between the original limits of Akron and what was then Middlebury, (now the sixth ward of Akron,) in what is now the fourth ward.

In 1811 Major Spicer, Amos Spicer, Paul Williams and Barnabas Williams moved into the township—Major Spicer on to the land he selected the year before; and Paul and Barnabas Williams located a little west, on what is Exchange street in Akron, a little west of Buchtel College.

The first settler in what is now Akron, but was then a part of Tallmadge township, was Captain Joseph Hart, who was born in Wallingford, Connecticut, and bred a sailor. He followed a sea-faring life—sailing from New Haven, and he became Captain of a ship. In 1799 he was captured by a French cruiser, and, with his ship and crew, taken to France. On his liberation and return to the United States, he quit the Ocean, and removed to Ohio. In 1807 he purchased 54 acres of land that now constitutes a considerable portion of the Sixth Ward of Akron. On the 6th of August, 1808, Eliza Hart, a daughter of Joseph Hart, and now the widow of Roswell Kent, was born, being the first white child born in what is now Akron.

In 1818, what is now the Sixth Ward of Akron was laid out into a village, called Middlebury. For a while it seemed destined to become one of the leading villages of the Reserve. In October, 1825, a newspaper was started here called The Portage Journal. As Akron had "no local habitation nor a home," nor a name, nor an existence, Middlebury was the resort of the enterprising business men, who were bidders and contractors on the Ohio canal. So great was the business at that time that there were no less than sixteen stores, including groceries, in the village. Mills, factories, and mechanical shops sprung into existence as if by magic.

In September, 1825, ground was broken for the Ohio canal, a little north of what is now Lock 1, in Akron, it having been broken at Licking Summit on the 4th of July previously.

Immediately, on the location of the canal, Gen. Simon Perkins and Paul Williams laid out Akron, and platted it and recorded it as a village. In what was then the recorded plat, there were but two families—Paul and Barnabas Williams. In 1832, there were 600 inhabitants; in 1840 there were 1632; in 1870 there were 10,253, in 1875 there were 17,000.

In 1827, Akron had become a "Port," and Woolsey Wells, Attorney at Law, Justice of the Peace, and Post Master, was appointed Collector of the Port of Akron. On the 4th of July, 1827, the first canal boat cleared from Akron to Cleveland, causing great rejoicing as it moved off at the rate of three miles an hour through the Portage and Northampton hills.

Akron is celebrated for her mechanical enterprise. To enumerate her manufactories would require far more room than we have to spare. With her five flouring mills, each of which can turn out 300 barrels of the best of flour a day, her machine shops, that give employment to nearly 1000 men, her Forge, Rolling Mill, and Furnaces, her Paper Mill, Match Factory, Rubber Works and Diamond Fire-brick, her oat and barley hullers, and other mechanical establishments, would require a volume to enumerate. With its immense water power, and the aid of the Cleveland, Mt. Vernon & Columbus and the Atlantic & Great Western Railroads, that pass through and cross each other in this city, with the wealth and enterprise of its citizens, and its unexampled increase of population, Akron has a bright future. But its crowning glory is its educational and literary history. Between twenty and thirty papers have been published in this city. The first was "The Akron Weekly Post," by Madison H. White, the first number of which was issued March 19, 1836. "Akron Journal," by C. Bryan; "The Era," by Jonathan F. Fenn; "The American Balance," by Smith & Galloway; "The Buzzard," by Jedediah Brownbread, "Glad Tidings," by Whitney, Davis & Doolittle, "The Flower of the West," by Allison & Rummix, "The Pestaloguean," by S. L. Sawtell; "The Cascade Roarer," by S. A. Lane, "Summit Beacon," by H. Bowen; "The Flail," by L. L. Howard, "The American Democrat," by H. Canfield; "The Casket," "Free Soil Platform," "Akron Eagle," "Free Demo-erat," "True Kindred," "Akron Offering," "Free Democratic Standard," "The Sockdolager," "The Whip," "The School Mistress," "The Akron City Times," "The Germania," and "The Argus."

But the crowning glory of her educational history is that where originated "The Akron School Law," and by the munificence of John R. Buchtel, and others, is erected and endowed "Buchtel College"—an honor to the city, and a lasting monument of the liberality of its founders.

By the fires of June and September, 1848, December 1849, and February 1851, the business part of ancient Akron was laid in ruins, but, like the Phoenix, she has arisen from the ashes, reinvigorated, rejuvenated, and beautified.

THE
Akron Business College,
 A LIVE INSTITUTION,

Established for the practical training of all who do not think themselves too old to learn. Several hundred young men and ladies and many middle-aged men have attended during the past five years and its doors are still open.

A Complete Business Course, Rapid Reckoning, Common Branches, Phonography, German,

And many other studies may be pursued. Our plan of teaching each student separately is peculiarly suited to middle-aged men who are backward in study and would be embarrassed to be classed with those many years younger. No one so ignorant as not to be welcome, or so wise (if ignorant of book-keeping) as not to be benefitted. Call on or address,

BUCKEYE REAPER AND MOWER

WITH MILLER'S IMPROVED TABLE RAKE.

With Improved Table Rake the Buckeye has met with unprecedented success, and the harvest just past has fully demonstrated that the Table Rake is the only Reaper that can cut and deliver in good shape grain that is down and tangled, and for all kinds and conditions of grain it is the only successful Mower and Reaper built.

The Reel works independent of the Rake, and brings the grain squarely upon the platform—which cannot be done by any Reel Rake in use—and delivers it in a straight and compact gavel. Gavels can be made of any size desired, and held by the Rake on the rear of the platform while another is gathering, and delivered wherever the operator wants it. The Rake can be stopped and started at any point, which is a decided advantage over all other Self-Rakes.

Owing to its Great Durability, Light Draft, Simplicity of Construction and Ease of Management, the Buckeye is the Most Reliable Machine Built.

The Machine Best Suited to the Farmers' Wants.

A LIVE PAPER.

THE AKRON DAILY ARGUS

—PUBLISHED BY—

ROWE BROTHERS,

10. 178 HOWARD STREET, AKRON, OHIO.

THE AKRON SEMI-WEEKLY ARGUS

Is Printed on Tuesdays and Fridays.

It contains all the Home and Foreign News, the Market Reports, and a great variety of select miscellaneous matter.

TERMS OF SUBSCRIPTION.

DAILY ARGUS, per Year.	$6.00
SEMI-WEEKLY ARGUS, per Year.....	1.50

The DAILY ARGUS, as well as the SEMI-WEEKLY ARGUS, is an independent newspaper, which not only aims to give the general news of the day, but to discuss freely and candidly the vital questions of the times, without being the organ of any party in either Church or State, and, despising also the idea of neutrality, it aims to treat all parties with fairness, and to represent their views correctly, while at the same time it takes the liberty to criticize closely every question of public interest. Its columns are always open to the public for the discussion of every subject, whether of local or general importance.

JOB PRINTING.

Having four large Steam Presses, and skilled workmen, we are enabled to turn out all kinds of Job Work promptly and at reasonable terms.

CUYAHOGA FALLS BUSINESS DIRECTORY.

1875-76.

Cuyahoga Falls is a thriving village situated on the C., Mt. V & C. R. R. also on the Falls of the Cuyahoga River, in Summit County, $4\frac{1}{2}$ miles from Akron, and 32 miles from Cleveland. The Cuyahoga River at this place has a fall of 260 feet within one mile. It is finely located amid an excellent farming section of the country, is an energetic, thriving business place, and has a population of over 2,500. The chief manufacturing enterprises are Turner, Pinks & Co., Variety Iron Works, Camp, Cook & Co, Sewer Pipe Manufacturers, Thomas Bros, and Haynes & Fitz, Ohio Stoneware Manufacturers, Cuyahoga Paper Co, Falls River Co., John Hinde & Sons, proprietors Harmony Mill, Manufacturers of Bagging, and the Falls Wire Company. These institutions employ each a large force of hands, and have resulted in a large accession to the population, and have much to do with the present prosperity of the town. Of other manufacturing enterprises, as Mills, Carriage Shops, Foundries, etc., it has its full share for a place of its size.

Its public buildings consist of first class School Houses and Churches of the various denominations.

It supports a good weekly newspaper—the Reporter

HUDSON BUSINESS DIRECTORY.

1875-76.

Hudson is situated in Summit County, at the junction of the Cleveland & Pittsburg and the Cleveland, Mt. Vernon & Columbus Railroads, 25 miles south-east of Cleveland. It is quite a thriving village of over 1,600 population. More buildings have been erected this season, than any year previous for eighteen years.

The principal manufacturing establishments are Croy & Osborn, lumber, cheese box and butter tub manufacturers, S. Straight & Son, manufacturers of cheese and butter. They support a weekly newspaper—the Enterprise

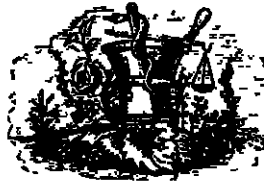

The Western Reserve College is located here, and is one of the finest institutions of learning in the West. Rev. Carroll Cutler, D. D., President.
