

Akron Art Time Capsule
Special Collections – Akron-Summit County Public Library

ACCESSION # 2015.64

ACQUISITION: Donated by Terry Klausman, April 13, 2015

ACCESS: Restricted access; Not to be opened until April 13, 2065.

VOLUME: one wood crate: 26l x 20w x 17h, and one document box; 2 LF

BIOGRAPHICAL NOTE: Terry Klausman conceived and executed this project. He is a regional artist working in many media. Of particular interest are found object assemblage sculpture, welded steel sculpture, and colored pencil drawings. He has won numerous local, state, and national awards for his work. Mr.Klausman is represented by the Harris Stanton Gallery in Akron and Cleveland.

SCOPE AND CONTENT: The contents of this time capsule includes materials submitted by Akron area artists, art collectors and art lovers during the years 2014-2015. Included are works of art, writings, books, correspondence and documents. The capsule was conceived and created by artist Terry Klausman to conduct an “anthropological survey” of the Akron art community during this time. Anyone with a connection to art, including artists, art collectors, arts organizations, and art lovers were invited to contribute items. It was created to coincide with Time Capsules, a related exhibit of art by Terry Klausman, Bret Hines, and Gwen Waight. The exhibit was installed at Summit ArtSpace during the months of February and March 2015.

The capsule was closed on April 13, 2015 at a ceremony at the Akron-Summit County Public Library attended by many of the contributors. It will remain in the Special Collections Division of the Akron-Summit County Public Library until 2065 upon which time it will be opened.
