Prepared by
The Newspaper Index Project
Works Projects Administration in Ohio
November, 1940
This selective index of Ohio news and opinion, compiled from the Home Edition of the Akron Beacon Journal, is intended as a key or guide and not as a digest or summary. However, the information given will often be found adequate without reference to the newspaper or to the microfilm copy.

Since the New York Times Index covers national and foreign news, such material has been omitted from this index. Other omissions are as follows:

- Advertisements
- Announcements of routine meetings of social, fraternal, and minor political organizations; announcements pertaining to routine sports events
- Commercial and promotional publicity on topics such as real estate, records, and automobiles
- Features or columns dealing with trivia, recapitulations of news, or non-news educational topics
- Lists which appear regularly such as vital statistics, incorporations, radio programs, time tables, theater schedules, stock and bond quotations, and prices
- Non-news items relating to material such as recipes, menus, household hints, budgets, care of pets, care of babies, personal adornment, patterns, fashions, advice to the lovelorn, gardening, games, and hobbies
- Poetry and fiction
- Reprints
- Reviews of burlesque and radio performances
- Society personnel and minor social and going
- Touring maps and information

The index for 1933 contains 29,216 entries representing 910,669 column inches, or 22% of the total column inches in the Akron Beacon Journal for this year.

The Newspaper Index Project, is sponsored by the Ohio State Archaeological and Historical Society. The Akron Beacon Journal Index is co-sponsored by the Akron Public Library and the City of Akron.

Acknowledgements are due the Akron Beacon Journal, the Akron Public Library, and the Ohio State Archaeological and Historical Society for supplying the necessary newspaper files. The Ohio State Archaeological and Historical Society has supplied valuable technical aid since the inception of the Project.

HOW TO USE THE AARON BEACON JOURNAL INDEX

Index entries are arranged alphabetically under subjects and proper names. In most instances material has been filed under specific rather than under general headings. Examples: Baseball news under BASEBALL and not under SPORTS; Home concerning the New York Central Railroad under that name and not under RAILROADS or TRANSPORTATION. With few exceptions names of organizations appear under the key word of the name. Examples: Akron Women's Club in ORG, ASSN OF; FRIENDS OF SYMPHONY, Akron Con Of; LITERARY, Ohio Ed Of. Exceptions: changes of officers, committees, and some well-established headings are submitted by geographical and topical subheads and sub-subheads. Examples: POLICE - Politics and Government; SCHOOLS - Ohio - Textbooks.

The subject name or subject heading is followed by a brief descriptive sub-entry and by a reference line. The following arrangement of sub-entries under headings is generally observed: General sub-entries are paragraphed singly in chronological order. In the case of related sub-entries, subject is maintained by arranging the lines chronologically within the same paragraph. In a few instances, where material is contained only under general headings (e.g., NOTES, PATRON POSTER, HINTS, BEATING, MARKINGS), the sub-entries are arranged alphabetically.

The reference line indicates date, page, and column. Example: 11, 912, meaning November 1, page 9, column 2.

When the location of an event is not expressly designated or otherwise indicated, the place of action is local.

The following are examples of index entries for a person, an organization, and a subject, with reference line:

AUGUST, HOWARD Y. Killed in auto collision, Ju 10, 644
MODES. LOCAL GOVERN.
Selects Guy for 1937 crew; selects 2.
Citizens officers, Chicago, Ju 5, 156
PEACE AND WAR
Internal police force urged as means of securing permanent peace, 1tr, G 5, 858
Cross references are used to direct the reader to the proper heading or to additional material under related headings. Examples:

PLANE CRASHED INTO DWELLING

PILOT AND PASSENGER KILLED

A TWIN-WING, single-engine plane crashed into a two-story dwelling early this morning, killing both occupants of the plane. The plane, a 1945 Cessna 170, was on approach to the municipal airport when it veered off course and crashed into the rear of the house. The cause of the crash is under investigation by the National Transportation Safety Board.

The pilot, John Smith, 35, and his passenger, Jane Johnson, 28, were both killed in the crash. The plane was carrying 100 gallons of fuel.

The house, located at 123 Main Street, sustained significant damage. The family inside the house, the Brown family, was unharmed.

The crash is the second plane crash in the city this year. The first occurred in January, killing a family of four.

The Federal Aviation Administration has temporarily grounded all twin-engine planes until further notice.

New York, N.Y.

Dear Mr. Rowell:

I have received your letter of January 25th, and I appreciate the trouble you have taken to send me the enclosed drawing. I understand that it is a preliminary sketch for a new design for our new building, which we are now planning to erect in the near future. I am very pleased with the design and believe that it will be a great improvement over our present facilities.

I would be interested in hearing your thoughts on the feasibility of incorporating the design into our new building. I would also like to discuss the cost implications of the design.

Please let me know if you would be available for a meeting to discuss these points in more detail.

Thank you for your time and consideration.

Sincerely,
